VOTE FOR COADJUTOR VOID.

Fresh Meeting to Be Held at Episcopal Residence, Burlington.

Burlington, April 5.—Word was received Saturday by the Rev. J. M. Clear, administrator of the diocese, from Bishop Beaven of Springfield, Mass., that the ballot on the question of a coadjutor bishop of the diocese of Burlington, taken by the terms of bishops at Boston and at Rome, had been declared null and void and that a new election would have to be held. Archbishop O'Connell of Boston has therefore called a meeting of the board of consultants and their removable rectors in the diocese to be held at the Episcopal residence in Burlington on Tuesday, Bishop Beaven presiding.
It is thought that the ballot heretofore taken was declared illegal on a technicality, from the fact that the candidates were elected upon reference to their eligibility for coadjutor bishop, and that since the request came from Bishop Michael for a coadjutor the bishop died, so that a bishop instead of a coadjutor was desired. The late Bishop Michael asked for a coadjutor last June, and it was expected that the selection would be announced during the present month.

A man giving the name of Thomas Barnes was arrested by officer Selva Thayer at Brantree last week and was brought here and lodged in the lockup. The following morning he was arraigned before Justice H. W. Vail and sentenced to 30 days in Chelsea jail and officer Thayer took him there at once.

Mr. C. J. Rumrill gave a very interesting address at the hospital of Dr. Mayes in Rochester, Minn., at the birthday party of Dr. Stewart Friday night. A strong contrast between present methods in the medical profession was shown when Dr. Stewart told in an interesting manner the methods of 50 years ago, when first he entered the medical profession. The resident physicians were present as guests at this party and the evening was one of pleasure and profit to all.

Rev. Joseph Hamilton gave an excellent sermon on "Our Duty to the Coming Generation" on Sunday morning before the Federated church. Next Sunday is the last time he will occupy the pulpit before the annual Methodist conference, and it is understood that for the next year the pulpit will be supplied by a Baptist minister who is a suitable one can be procured. Mr. Hamilton will attempt to some work through the week for the church and will probably supply the pulpit at Bethel if need be unless other plans develop for the future.

Lyman Denison of East Barre has purchased the Yearlark house in the village and will take possession soon. Jerry Yearlark, Mrs. Denison's father, will make his home with them.

M. C. Metcalf had his trip to the creamery cut short one day last week when his sleigh took a sudden drop in the road throwing out the large can filled with cream and scattering the contents in all directions.

EAST CABOT.

Mrs. Eugene Hall is sick with pneumonia.

C. H. Austin was in Barre on business Thursday.

Miss Mabel Briggs is visiting in Marshfield the past few days.

Mrs. Justin Stone is caring for Mrs. Eugene Hall for the present.

Mrs. Eva Paquin of Lower Cabot is at home for a brief stay.

Lena Rivers.

All women kind find in the delightful play Lena Rivers, from the book by Mary J. Holmes, a something that touches their hearts and excites their sympathies. The play is charming in its simplicity, unimpeachable in moral purpose, abounds in sentiments of uprightness, and in its there is a touch truly real and genuine. Such plays do good, while many others do harm. During the coming engagement of the Adam Good company at Barre opera house commencing Monday, April 5th, Lena Rivers will be offered Thursday matinee with Miss Helen Engree in the title role. Miss Engree, who is a talented young actress, invests the role with a personality all her own and presents an illuminative and sympathetic study of a young woman whose characteristics are unusual enough to be interesting and not unusual enough to appear as unduly strained or unnatural. During one of the acts of the play, Miss Engree offers to the ladies in the audience a treat for the eye by wearing one of those late-Persian creations, a real show gown, a genuine sensation as especially imported for her.

BETHEL

MONTPELIER

Only one break since the opening of winter to the present time, was the record of the Montpelier water department during the past winter. Supt. Smith says he has never seen a winter so free from trouble with the water pipes.

Sheriff and Mrs. Frank H. Tracy gave a sugar party at their home on Elm street Friday afternoon to the judges of Washington county court, stenographer Mrs. F. L. Laird and the deputy sheriffs who are in attendance. The sugar was new, freshly made at Mr. Tracy's farm on the Berlin road.

Constable Grady of Roxbury, is hunting for Frank Lashaway who was working at the farm of Francis Mayette, about two miles outside of Roxbury. Lashaway was wanted for breaking in Elizabethtown, N. Y. He told the officer early Wednesday morning to wait a few minutes while he went back upstairs to put on the rest of his things. He then slid out through the side door, climbed a snowbank and disappeared. He made tracks north for a short distance and then doubled back and went south. It is believed that Lashaway went back to Mayette's house during the day and secured the rest of his clothes as he was in his shirt-sleeves when he left the house. It is reported that Lashaway is a "sleek burglar." A reward of $50 had been offered for his capture.

Why the Marquis Paid.

The famous surgeon Velpeau was visited one day at his home during the consultation hour by a marquis renowned for his closeness. Velpeau informed the marquis that an operation was urgent and the fee would amount to 4,000 francs. At this the marquis made a face and left. A fortnight later Dr. Velpeau, while making his rounds in the Hospital de la Charite, had his attention attracted by a face that seemed familiar to him. In answer to his inquiry it was stated that the patient was a footman of a nobleman in the Faubourg Saint Germain.

The surgeon found that his case resembled in every particular the coming what unusual case for which the marquis had consulted him a fortnight previously. He refrained, however, from making any comments. Three weeks after the operation, when the patient was about to be discharged, Dr. Velpeau called him aside and exclaimed:

"Monseigneur, I am extremely flattered and pleased to have been able to cure you. There is, however, a small formality with which you will have to comply before I can sign your exit; that is, you will have to sign a check for 10,000 francs in behalf of the public charity bureau of your metropolitan district."

"You can do what you like about it," continued the doctor, "but if you refuse all Paris will know to-morrow that the Marquis de D— adopted the disguise of a footman in order to secure free treatment at this hospital and to usurp the place which belongs by right to a pauper." Of course the marquis paid—Cleveland Leader.

Meanness of a Joker.

Some people cannot resist the temptation to play practical jokes on innocent victims. A friend of that variety was accosted by a man who stammered badly. "Can you tell me where I can get some g-g-g-good c-c-c-carpent t-t-t-tacks?"

"Yes, certainly," replied the inveterate joker. "You turn down this street to your left, then turn again to your left and there go straight ahead and you'll find an ironmonger's, where you'll be sure to get them."

The stammerer continued on his way and the joker bolted down the street and tackled the ironmonger first.

"Have you any g-g-g-good t-t-t-t-t-t-t-tacks?"

"Yes, sir," said the obliging man, producing his best after some rummaging.

"Are you sure th-th-these are g-g-good ones?"

"Yes. The best that are made."

"Are th-th-they heads st-st-at-strong?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have they g-g-g-good s-s-s-s-sharp p-p-points?"

"Well, p-p-p-please s-s-s-s-e-it on them t-t-t-till I get back, will you?" he said, making a dash for the door.

Presently the unlucky stammerer arrived, and, entering, asked innocently: "Have you any g-g-g-good t-t-t-t-t-t-t-tacks?"

When he recovered he asked, in a somewhat dazed fashion whether the house had fallen on him, or if it was simply an explosion.—Illustrated Bits.

Retreat? Never!

In an Irish garrison town, a theatrical company was giving performances, and some soldiers from the local barracks were engaged to act as superns. Their duties included the waging of a fierce fight in which, after a stirring struggle, one army was defeated on a given signal from the prompter. For a few nights all went well, but on Friday evening the special performance of the piece was to be given under the patronage of the colonel and other officers of the garrison. The two armies met as usual at the end of the second act, when they fought and fought and kept on fighting, regardless of the agonized glare in the eye of their general, who hourly ordered the proper army to "Retreat, confound you!" But they got still went on, and soon the horrified manager saw the wrong army being driven slowly off the stage, still fighting desperately. Down came the curtain amid roars of laughter, and the furious manager hastened to ask the delinquents why they had failed to retreat on hearing the signal.

"Retreat," roared a burly fusilier, whose visage had been badly battered, "and is it retreat ye'd have us wid the colonel and all the officers in the boxes?"—Tit-Bits.

IRON AGE Implements

Save Time, Labor and Money

For seventy years Iron Age Implements have been helping farmers and gardeners everywhere to produce better crops with less labor, and every year marks some new improvement where improvement is possible. Today there is no combination of labor and garden tools so well calculated to save time, labor and money as the Iron Age Implements.

A Few of Them Described

The No. 6 Iron Age Double and Single Wheel Hoe, Mill and Drill Seeder, with one pair of handles and the interchangeable parts will open the furrow, plant, cover, make level, work, hoe and cultivate with both the work and triple the speed of hand methods. It's a winner from start to finish.

The No. 1 Iron Age Double and Single Wheel Hoe is just the tool for a small garden, handy for a woman or boy. Very light, and easy running on account of the high wheels. Will pay for its keep in a week's time.

The No. 110 Orchard and Variety Cultivator, designed for the orchardist, but available for all purposes common to the fruit grower. Can be used as a follow plow; opening furrows for irrigating or planting purposes and is a strong all-round cultivator that will make the orchard pay.

The No. 5 Iron Age Mill and Drill Seeder is light, simple, strong and compact. The seed hop holds four quarts and delivers fine or coarse seed properly and evenly with accurate spacing. An invaluable tool for large gardens or market and farm gardens.

The Iron Age Improved Robbin's Potato Planter an invaluable time saver for the potato farmer. Drops one hundred per cent of seed on from 4 to 7 acres per day. No double, no miss, no bruised seed. This machine,
